5. New Business

5.1 Presentation from Special Project Funding applications requesting over $5000

a. The ASFA Annual Spring Ball

- Gordon presented the proposal for the ASFA Annual Spring Ball, an annual graduation and year-end event.
- 200 students attend a cocktail, dinner, and slideshow.
- Awards are presented to member associations.
- Member associations are introduced to the incoming ASFA executive.
- This year's event will be held in a new location: Espace Reunion.

Questions and Discussion

How was this event funded in the past?

- Ticket revenues, ASFA's social budget line, fundraising, and contributions from the CSU.
- No fundraising was done this year as the VP Social had to resign.

What will you do over time to require less CCSL funding?

- There are no plans to change funding strategy.
- ASFA doesn't want to increase ticket prices for students.

What is the ticket cost?

- $65 per student or $600 for a table of ten.

b. Concordia City Farm School

- New Budget was prepared and circulated for council to review.
- This project started last year out of Sustainable Concordia and the Greenhouse Project as a response to the increased interest in growing food in the urban environment.
- The project has developed into an 8-month training program with 160 hours of internship time for 24 students.
- They are working with Vert ta ville, Alternatives, and other community partners.
- They have been approached by property managers for the Hall Building and various Loyola buildings about edible landscaping on campus.
- All participating students are required to give two workshops each during the year.

Questions and Discussion

What will it look like on Mackay?

- Existing planters will be replaced.
- Seedling list is currently at about 800 plants.
- Looking at selling the food produced through Le Frigo Vert to help fund the project.

Who is teaching or leading the education?

- Local farmers, staff from Santropol and the Jardin Botaniques, and faculty from Concordia.
- The curriculum is made up of 18 workshops that happen biweekly.

Why a limited number of people and any plans to expand?

- Logistics of the workshops and organizing around pedagogy made it necessary to limit the number of people in each workshop.
- They looked at adding another cohort to run simultaneously but the organizing of it was too complicated at this stage; it is being considered for future years.

Do participants pay?

- Yes. $300 to cover honorariums for workshop facilitators and materials.

Who do you plan to sell produce to in order to raise revenue?

- Burritoville, le frigo vert, and they are considering opening a produce stand at Loyola.
- Equipment presented in the budget is an investment towards fiscal sustainability.

Where are the participants coming from?

- Teachers from FACE and EMSB, students, community members
- There is a diverse mixture of age groups participating

- c. Black History Month 2012 – Jordan Lindsay and Marvin Coleby
- Developed to highlight black culture around the world and inform the Concordia community about their fellow students.
 - The project is four weeks of events, held in February, that celebrate and inform the Concordia student community.
Events were spread over a variety of themes and interests; all were well attended.

Motion to approve the ASFA Annual Spring Ball for $3500 to be put towards rental and décor. The funding notice should stipulate that the CCSL membership recommends that ASFA lower ticket prices to make the event more accessible to more than one demographic of student and consider a cash bar over an open bar. Membership also asked that notice be given that there would not be recurrent funding for the same activities in future years. This would be important information for all the projects funded this year.
